60th Anniversary Celebration

Special Exhibit On The Cutting Edge: Contemporary Gemstone Sculpture

Featuring ten lapidary artists from the Americas representing gem carving trends in the 21st century. Join us on Sunday, November 6 from 12 p.m. to 3 p.m. for an open house event with many of the professional lapidary artists featured here. Activities include book signings and demonstrations for a closer look at the artistic process of gem carving. Admission is free to the public.

"To live with an open heart, to remember that the essence of our true self is LOVE; forgive, heal and feel the depths of your emotions and reflect this divine love and light to each other!"

The Heart Collection Inspiration

Luis Alberto Quispe Aparicio

Lima, Peru

"Never be afraid to create outside the box"

Darryl Alexander

Arizona

Represented by Somewhere in the Rainbow Collection, Arizona

"My lifelong relationship within the small communities nestled in the mountainous landscape has become an integral and intimate part of my life and an inspiration for my creativity."

Julio Martínez Barnetche

Mexico

"Tell a story" inspired by her world travels to mines and ancient archaeological sites, and influenced by her current southwest surroundings and the ancient Greek mythology.

Helen Serras-Herman

Rio Rico, Arizona

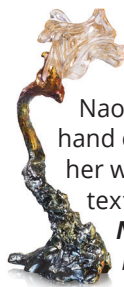

Trent specializes in making wearable modern art sculpture with gemstones. His signature is the architectural pendants he calls assemblages. Inspired by miniature cityscapes, abstractions, and often with Deco overtones.

Trent Mann

Providence Village, Texas

From the sensuous curves of the Art Nouveau period to the movement of flowing water, artist Naomi Sarna searches for the beautiful line as she hand carves her gemstone masterpieces. Central to her work is the play of light and shadow, movement, texture, and the use of bold color combinations.

Naomi Sarna

New York City, New York

With extensive experience in all sculptural media, Georg's work evolved into a style of juxtaposing contrasting surface finishes, textures, and colors while integrating different materials into a single piece. As an extension, this approach to sculptural art became his 'trademark' when he immersed himself in the world of jade 15 years ago.

Georg Schmerholz

California

"I am blessed to be able to sculpt the light and color of the incredible gems the Creator has laid at our feet. Once I get to the forest, I strive to enter on my own path. I humbly recognize the road that gets me there was built on the work of so many great artists before me."

Rick Stinson

Andover, Kansas

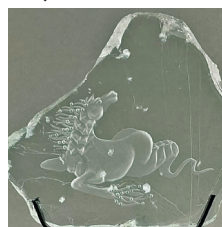

"The Beauty of Nature Inspires the Heart to Pursue the Nature of Beauty"

Lawrence Stoller

Oregon

Specializing in gem and glass engraving, Nancy finds inspiration for her designs in her garden, the ocean, and her beloved shoreline. Her gemstone engravings include foliage themes and representational creatures that reference nature.

Nancy Arthur-McGehee

San Diego, California
